Website Vision

The website is about the Mid-Autumn Festival. It will include information about its origin, how people celebrate it, and its cultural influences. I am interested in creating it because the Mid-Autumn Festival just passed, and I had a lot of fun celebrating it with my friends.

Font Combinations Implementation

I used the combination “Events and Workshops” in <https://www.befunky.com/learn/font-pairing/> for my festival theme website. The serif header font (Oranienbaum) will instantly capture a viewer’s attention, while the remaining serif fonts (Playfair and Lora) will make the rest of the text legible from a distance.

Color Harmonies

I used the combination “Rich and Colorful” in <https://visme.co/blog/website-color-schemes/> for my titles and subtitles because the bright and vivid colors are a great fit for a festival theme website. For my description texts, I used colors.co to pick contrasting colors such that the text can stand out against the background image.

Design Transition Pattern

I used this transition design: “Mostly Fluid”.

Reference Websites

I chose this website because of its simplicity and the way it contains all the essential parts of a responsive website. The website used mostly fluid for transition. It influenced my designs by helping me to make the decision of also using mostly fluid as the transition design for my website.
